“ *I'm so sorry for your loss. The pain and grief of loosing someone we love can seem unbearable. Something that can be comforting is God's word. As 1 Corinthians 1:3&4 says; ...the God of all comfort, who comforts all in our trials...The Bible helps us to understand how God feels about death. Isaiah 25:8 says God will defeat our enemy death, and it will be gone forever. -More comforting truths can be found in a book called "What Does the Bible Really Teach". I hope you will look into this subject further. I know it will bring you comfort and peace as it did me. Sincerely Nora

“ Dear Shortie and Debbie - so sad to hear of the Chief's passing. What can you say about Chief Steinhagen? He was always larger than life to me. He was a role model and father figure as well. He taught me so many things about being a man a caring person at the same time. He taught me about tradition and honor in the fire service. I have thought of him often over the years and I owe my fire service career to his inspiration! He touched many lives as he served his country, his community, and his family for decades. He will be missed. I hope that all of the good memories of happy times will get your family through this period of grief. God bless you all and I hope Heaven is ready for a new Chief!
