

Pamela S Lonroth

December 12, 1942 - January 19, 2024

Pamela Stackhouse Lonroth died January 19, 2024 at 81 years of age. She was born to George and Joan Stackhouse on December 12, 1942. She attended Homewood-Flossmoor High School, Beaver College, and Roosevelt University.

Pamela will be remembered as a lovely person who put family and friends above all else to make the lives better for the people she cared about. Pamela exuded two incredible characteristics: her innate desire to help others and deep-seated kindness to all who crossed paths with her. She opened her home to family and strangers who were in need of shelter and meal. A fierce advocate for the under-served, she never hesitated to raise her voice for those who did not have the same privileges or opportunities as her. She tried to leave the world a better place. Pamela Lonroth's death is a loss deeply felt by her friends and family.

An excellent friend, a caring wife, a doting mother and a loving grandmother, Pam is survived by Christer, her loving husband of 57 years, her son Hans Lonroth, and her grandchildren, Delia and Lars Lonroth, who deeply loved their "La-La."

Pamela will be buried in a small ceremony this summer at the Stackhouse family ground in West Laurel Hill Cemetery in Bala Cynwyd, Pennsylvania.

The family appreciates your thoughts and prayers in this time of mourning.

Tribute Wall

HL

“ Miss you mom

-----
Hans Lonroth - March 05, 2024 at 04:08 PM

WR

“ Chris I am so sorry for your lose. I so enjoyed talking to Pam about her dogs. And she loved her jewelry.

-----
Wanda Ritsema - January 26, 2024 at 10:12 PM

CL

“ Pam was always enthusiastically helpful and kind.

-----
christer Lonroth - January 25, 2024 at 11:33 AM

CL

“Your memory as a long time, generous member will be honored at the 2024 LSKC show .”

-----
Christec Lonroth - March 01, 2024 at 06:26 PM