“ So many memories come to mind.. Starting with Music : Break my Stride, Feliz Navidad
Dominick the Donkey played for Uncle Dominick on Christmas Eve....

An Aerosmith/Guns and Roses Concert at Alpine Valley... We had Lawn seats and drove there in Yogi's Camero..

I remember old boyfriends: Yogi, Eric, and Jeff Brady.

You were in the Oak Forest freshman class of 1979 and a High school graduate in 1983.. Oh boy the 80's were great!! How did we all survive it?

I remember your Homecoming pictures that were taken at Uncle Carl's house..

A wedding in Gatlinburg ...

I remember my first day at St. Damian, and you were supposed to get me to class... I remember you saving me from an accident in the utility room when I was a little kid.

Beanie Babies
That Monkey
The White Beretta the Green Beretta
The Green Bomb

Hitting Duane " Otis " with that pole when you guys were kids ..
Nobody was injured lol...

General Hospital
All My Children..

Pepe's

*New Horizon
The Brat Stop
Putin Bay*

Sleep well, sis... You were loved and will be missed!!!! ❤️

“ Vicki, You were always a nice person and fun to have laughs with. Seems like yesterday we were cracking jokes as we stood up in Steve's wedding. May God hold your hand and guide you into his kingdom! Dennis Connelly

“ I am very sorry to hear this. Every time I drive through Oak Forest, I have wonderful childhood memories & think of my neighbors on Merlin Court. Although it's been several yrs since I've seen you Vicki, you were always kind to me. I still remember the many nights staying up late talking to you & your mom about life & old memories of my parents. You & your mom shared old photos, you talked about your trip to Hawaii, we laughed & cried, listened to music. It was so long ago but somehow feels like yesterday. Rest well Vicki. Prayers to Eileen Roberts & Family. I am thinking of you all during this difficult time.

“ I’m heartbroken and still in shock that I won’t be able to see you anymore. I love you and miss your beautiful soul Boompa. I’ve been struggling a lot the past couple of days knowing that i’ll never see you or talk to you ever again. A friend recently shared a thought that losing a loved one is hard, but it’s the good memories that keep them alive and make it easier for us to keep going. I want you to know some of my favorite memories. I remember having dance parties with you. Those always put a smile on my face. I remember having sleepovers with you and we would make “special” sandwiches at like 1 in the morning. I remember how excited you were when you added a new monkey doll into your collection. I remember going to estate sales with you and you picking the most bizarre thing, And i remember you standing by my side while making my confirmation. you are my god mother i know you’re the angel sitting on my shoulder guiding me throughout life. i’ll see you again in the mean time have fun with little oodie o, harvey, benny, and even mozart.

“ You were an amazing aunt and I loved spending time with you. I remember playing with your monkey dolls and the dollhouse in your room. My sisters, cousins and I spent a lot of time playing with your dollhouse. I also remember going to the wizard of oz parade and dunes with you and grandma. You will be missed.

“ When I would visit for the weekend you always had some new adventure for nickie and I to go on. You were creative, silly, and always encouraged us to use our imagination. Thank you for always being our director for our performances. I will cherish those memories❤️

“ So sorry & saddened to hear the heartbreaking news of losing a family member. I get choked up writing about you, but I'd like to share some memories that made me smile. Thinking back to all of the times we hung out together. Immediately I thought of you showing me your collections of beanie babies. Sitting by the television watching Golden Girls episodes. Little House on the Prairie marathons. I believe you may have been the only person on the planet watching!! Rubbing my back when I was “food poisoned “. They are all nice memories that bring me joy. You were a sweet soul & will always be remembered and missed.

“ On the day of Christmas, my mom took me to see you. I was lucky to visit you on Christmas, and see you. I held your hand and I spoke to you about everything I thought of. We played your favorite Christmas song, I told you about Sydney getting Taylor Swift tickets, and we had our own conversation for a little while. I stayed with you for about 3 hours. I'm so glad that I got to see you, and speak to you. I'm sorry that it was the last time I was going to see you, it would've been nice for you to wake up. But, I know you're probably having a good time up in Heaven with your Grandma, and many other people you love. I will always remember you squeezing my hand three times, I love you so much.
