“ I visited with Cousin Violet on Friday before she crossed over. She smiled at me a lot and said how much I looked like Aunt Vera. In the time I was visiting she asked me and the care givers several times if she could go home. I think she meant home to our Lord. When I said goodbye she cried. I kissed her forehead and cried too. I didn't notice the service times and I am sorry I missed it. God's grace and peace to the family. My sympathy to the family and cheers to Violet! She is finally home!!
